

Reflections Genre Guide 4th Edition(2015)

Nobel Prize Nomination

Elizabeth Faulkenbury

Persuasive—Nominate a fictional character in the category of virtue

My Journey to Seek a New Home

Ly Mai Crane

Personal Response--- Choose a time in your life when you went on a journey. Explain the circumstances, name, describe the people and locations; provide details so that the readers will need to understand and appreciate your story.

Breaking Free

Sherri Grandidier

Analysis---Analyze a topic or theme of the play Raisin in the Sun for an audience who is familiar with the play.

Yesterday's Traditions, Today's Nightmare

Michelle Christman

Analysis—Select at least 3 literary elements and explain their significance.

Forbidden Joy

Meredith Koontz

Analysis—Analyze at least 3 literary elements and how they contribute to theme in “A Story of an Hour”

We Are America

Lynn Reed

Compare and Contrast—Compare and/or contrast some elements from two works and explain why the similarities or differences are important and why they matter.

Americans, but Hyphenated

Nina Chen

Compare and Contrast—Compare and/or contrast some elements from two works and explain why the similarities or differences are important and why they matter.

Is It Really Utopia?

Kimberly Bennett

Multi-Source Research

The Power of Civil Disobedience:

How Henry David Thoreau Inspired Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Kirk Jackman

Multi-Source Research

Memories as Justification and the Regret of Abandonment in The Glass Menagerie

Craig Fugate

Multi-Source Research—Prepare a 4 paged academic research paper that either compares and contrast the play with some other piece of literature, analysis of the play, or persuades the reader to examine the play in a new way. You will also include at least 3 outside sources plus the play itself on the Works Cited page with citations.