The Students In Free Enterprise team at Northwest Arkansas Community College will host an afternoon of reading for area children at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Rogers Public Library.

This will be the second time NWACC's SIFE team has led this program. Two team members will read the story in the coloring book, both in English and Spanish, while other team members act out the story in a skit. The book tells the story of a little girl, Maria, who visits her friend Jose in Mexico. It teaches children about currency exchange.

There is no admission charge.
