The Students In Free Enterprise chapter at Northwest Arkansas Community College will hold a pep rally Tuesday before departing campus for a regional competition in St. Louis, Mo.

The rally will begin 10:15 a.m. in the Burns Hall Atrium. NWACC SIFE is the defending regional two-year college champion.

There are 17 regional competitions involving universities and community colleges across the country this week. NWACC competes in the community college division Wednesday.

SIFE is an international non-profit organization whose teams create economic opportunities in their communities by organizing outreach projects that teach market economics, entrepreneurship, personal financial success skills, and business ethics. Their projects are judged on creativity, innovation, and effectiveness.

Should NWACC SIFE repeat as regional champions, it would advance to the 2006 SIFE USA National Competition on May 21-23 in Kansas City, Mo. For more information, call Jennifer Vandiver at 544-4939.
