

Computer Information Department Course Outline

CISM 2803 ADVANCED TOPICS IN COMPUTER INFORMATION (On Demand)

Catalog Description

This course will cover varying advanced computer information topics. Topics offered will cover new developments in the changing environment of computer information. This course may be repeated as topics vary. (Outside lab time will be required.)

Prerequisites

CISQ 1103 Introduction to Computer Information Systems
Certain topics may require additional pre-requisites, instructor approval/override required.

Credit Hours/Contact hours/Load hours

3/3/3

Target Audience/Transferability

Varies by course topic

Student Learning Outcomes

Students completing this course will:

- Define and enhance the ability to manipulate software or data in the area studied
- Process information received in the subject area, refine it, manipulate it, and return both results and requests for appropriate enhancement
- Use basic and intermediate skills in the specific topic and basic knowledge of the other aspects of computer information
- Define the impact of various laws such as the Homeland Security Act, FERPA, and HIPPA in the management of computer information. The specifics will change according to the course topic.

Topics

Varies by the course topic

Forms of Assessment

Varies by course topic

Rev. 7/2019