

NorthWest Arkansas Community College
Division of Social and Behavioral Sciences, Education and Wellness, Legal and Protective Services

PLSC 2403 (Intro to Comparative Politics)

Catalog Description:

A study of the various political systems of the world, such as the governments of Western Socialist or Communist Systems, and developing world governments. The countries under examination are offered to address important real-world circumstances.

Prerequisites:

None.

Credit Hours/Contact Hours/Load Hours:

3/3/3

Course Outcomes:

- Developed a competent analytical skill set with regards to comparative theories and themes;
- Explained why states develop distinct types of governments and policies and the relation to cultural factors;
- Analyzed this subfield Political Science, its debates, and relevant trends and concepts utilized in the subfield.
- Considered political theories across the ideological spectrum and their influence governmental action.
- Improved analytical, critical thinking, and communication skill sets.